Also try "Dorian major"
"Aeolian major" and
"Phrygian major"
(simply substitute I for i.)

* ↑
Not a chord
scale, rather a "chain"
progression.

Now tune the 6th string to D and try as a pedal with or without the 5th string A.

PLAY ALL THESE
OVER
AN
(OPEN).

This is called a 5th pedal or dominant pedal

Tune the 5th string to G and use it
as a pedal.
Try mixing
in the D 4th
string too.

Important:
use the seventh degree chords
one octave
lower too.

You'll like
them.

Optional: try
the sixth
degree chords 8va lower
too.
(5th degree
for pentatonic)

* Chain progression

And try the Dorian major Aeolian major and Phrygian major types too.

Not a chord
scale but a “chain”
progression
instead.

After acquainting yourself with this page as given, tune the 6th string to Eb, the 5th string to Bb, and the 4th string to Eb and transpose everything up to the wonderful key of Eb.

And connect i to I too
as before creating Dorian major Aeolian major, and Phrygian major
