

Ted at the Seashell Restaurant

Toward the end of January [1993], Ted took a regular gig playing solo guitar at the Seashell restaurant in Encino, Friday and Saturday nights. I began accompanying him to the Seashell every weekend, reveling in his heavenly music, and enjoying the luxury of eating his complimentary dinner.

...The next week he told me he was no longer playing at the Seashell Friday nights because the management felt he wasn't drawing enough dinner customers....

In mid-April, Ted called to tell me that his Dad had a somewhat serious stroke....He said also that he was no longer playing at the Seashell Saturday nights, thus entirely ending his gig there....

From My Life with the Chord Chemist by Barbara Franklin (p. 31-32)

1993, February 5-6

The Seashell Restaurant, 19723
Ventura Blvd., Woodland Hills, presents guitarist Ted Greene 9 p.m. to midnight, Fridays and Saturdays. The restaurant offers a mini-menu of seafood and meat dishes until midnight, but has no cover or drink minimum. Call (818) 884-6500.

1993, April 16-17

The Seashell, 19723 Ventura Blvd., Woodland Hills, presents guitarist Ted Greene from 9 p.m. to midnight Fridays and Saturdays. The restaurant offers a mini-menu of seafood and meat dishes until midnight. No cover or drink minimum. Call (818) 884-6500.

The Seashell Restaurant, 19723
Ventura Blvd., Woodland Hills, presents
guitarist Ted Greene 9 p.m. to midnight, Fridays and Saturdays. The restaurant offers a mini-menu of
seafood and meat dishes until
midnight, but has no cover or drink minimum. Call (818) 884-6500.